

Workshop Title:

National Policies Upscaling Organics and Agroecology: New breakthroughs and lessons learned

Main Organizer & Contact Person:

Paul Holmbeck

World Board Member, IFOAM – Organics International

Director, Holmbeck EcoConsult (Denmark)

Email: ph@paulholmbeck.com

Website: paulholmbeck.com

Steering Committee Members:

- IFOAM – Organics International World Board

Main Topic:

The workshop will explore national policies that support the upscaling of organic farming and agroecology across multiple continents. It will focus on specific policy interventions for supporting farmer transitions, market development, organic public procurement, peer learning, and the inclusion of organics and agroecology in national climate and biodiversity strategies.

Targeted Public:

- Organic stakeholders involved in associations
- Policy development specialists
- Researchers
- Extension and market development professionals

Main Objectives of the Workshop:

This workshop aims to bring together practitioners to share knowledge and lessons learned from national policies for organic farming and agroecology worldwide. The objective is to inspire stakeholders to advocate for and implement effective national policies that support organic farming, agroecology, market growth, and improved farmer livelihoods. It also aims to provide strategic insights on best practices, policy financing, and long-term implementation for more inclusive and empowering policy development.

Language:

English (Possible translation if needed)/Mandarin

Maximum Participants:

30-60 participants